

The Sustainable Development Goals – SDG's

In 2015, world leaders meeting in the United Nations, agreed to 17 Goals for a better world by 2030. Developed around a central promise to 'leave no one behind', these Goals have the power to end poverty, fight inequality and stop climate change. The Goals are defined by an additional 169 targets and some 200 indicators that facilitate the monitoring of progress. Guided by the Goals, it is now up to all of us, governments, businesses, civil society and the general public to work together to build a better future for everyone. Noting the strong convergence between the SDGs and the National Development Plan (NDP), the South African Government has established a Goal Tracker initiative that supports citizens and policymakers in tracking progress towards the SDGs, and identifying gaps and priority areas for action. At local level in the Overstrand, Enlighten Education Trust is particularly engaged in association with the Overstrand Education District (OED) in tracking and contributing to the achievement of SDG targets 4.1 and 4.2 within Goal 4: 'Ensure inclusive and equitable quality education and promote lifelong learning opportunities for all'.
